To whom it may concern:

AACC Youth Programs have a longstanding history of success developing, administering and delivering responsive, innovative sustainability programs in a variety of formats including youth classes during the school year and summer day camps.

We have well established mechanisms and protocols that effectively address the needs and challenges of younger learners. AACC is recognized regionally and nationally as an exceptional provider of innovative, high energy educational programs for children.

In the past three years KIDS in COLLEGE has offered:

- Building Green
- E-business: Designing the Next E-Bay
- Green Cars: A Solar Powered System
- It's Easy Being Green
- Our High Tech Planet
- Beyond the Lemonade Stand
- Wild Ideas and Innovations: Designing Products for the Future
- Down By the Bay
- Junk Yard Warriors
- Save the Planet
- Chef's Challenge

AACC- Kids in College

- Retains qualified content experts and/or trainers who will develop and deliver the curriculum;
- Providing online registration services;
- Uses electronic methods to promote and advertise our programs though the local public and private schools, e-newsletters and e-mail campaigns.

As the Director of Lifelong Learning, I affirm that the information provided here regarding the courses and camps that we provide for children is accurate.

Sincerely,

Louann M. Tracy
Director, Lifelong Learning
